allies; Messrs. Ryan and Belmont, two of our most resolute opponents. Not only has no single act been done by the administration or by congress which could be construed by its most frantic opponent into favoring the financial interests of the one side or as discriminating against the financial interests of the other side, but I do not believe that even the most mendacious critic would assert such to be the case.

The letter commended Mr. Bliss and added that he hoped Mr. Bliss had not been bothered by those outrageous assaults upon you in connection with the campaign contributions.
'I have felt the keenest indignation as I have read them,' the president said.

Books and Letters Were Destroyed.
Under examination by Senator Paynter, the witness said that his father had told him he allowed the books of the treasurer's office of the republican national committee to be destroyed because he (the elder Bliss) believed the records useless. They contained, he said, the names and amounts from various contributors. The witness did not know who had destroyed them.

The witness could not remember having talked with his father about the much discussed $100,000 Standard Oil company contribution. Mr. Bliss said that, since his father's death, had destroyed a great many of the papers left by the elder Bliss.
'I know of nothing that I destroyed that could in any way assist this committee,' he declared emphatically.

Old Man is Called.
Mr. Bliss then was excused and William H. Libby of New York, foreign representative of the Standard Oil company, was sworn in.
Chairman Clapp asked Mr. Libby if he had anything to do with advising the company about legislative affairs.

Harriman Letters Produced.
C. C. Tegethoff, from whom the committee expected to learn if the Harriman family had any documentary evidence about the raising of a $250,000 campaign fund in 1904, next took the stand and produced a series of papers from the Harriman estate file.

Harriman Recommends Officer.
A letter from Mr. Harriman December 23, 1904, endorsed W. C. Ralston as candidate for naval officer at San Francisco. President Roosevelt replied December 29, 'that there are one or two points in reference to the case which I shall like to go over with you if you feel that you care to come to Washington.'

Roosevelt Writes Office.
The date according to a rapid exchange of letters produced was finally fixed for Wednesday evening, May 25, when Mr. Harriman consented to dine at the White House. In a subsequent letter written by William Loeb, then secretary to the president, it was set forth that 'Attorney General Knox, Mr. Cortelyou and Senator Murray Crane would also be present.'

Trevin of Cedar Rapids Made State Attorney for Rock Island Road— Detective Sent to Probe Quincy Murder Case.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
DES MOINES, Ia., Sept. 30.—(Special Telegram.)—Claiming to operate in Des Moines under the state law permitting the Iowa Telephone company, through H. G. Conger, commercial manager, today officially notified Mayor James R. Hanna that they would refuse to seek a franchise from the city of Des Moines. Authority for the statement of the attitude of the company came from N. T. Geunsey, who has recently been elected general counsel for the Bell Telephone interests. With the attitude of the company shown, Mayor Hanna declares it will be the policy of the city to proceed with the proposed ordinance to place an annual rental tax of $1 on poles and $1 per mile on underground wires; also to regulate rates and demand one free telephone for every 1,000 inhabitants of the city.

Trevin Road Attorney.
James L. Parrish, who has been since the death of Carroll Wright, the Iowa attorney for the Rock Island, will immediately retire and will be succeeded by James H. Trevin of Cedar Rapids, at present president of the board of education and formerly in the state senate. Parrish will enter the law firm which N. T. Geunsey will leave to become general counsel for the Bell Telephone interests in New York.

Probing Murder Case.
Attorney General Cosson today directed that a detective, who is in the service of the state working on the Villisca murder, go at once to Quincy, Ill., and investigate to see whether or not a similar crime there was not probably committed by the same person. The similarity of the crimes suggests the same author.

DEATH RECORD.

Mr. Michael O'Hare.
NORTH BEND, Neb., Sept. 30.—(Special.)—Mrs. Michael O'Hare, an old resident of Dodge county, died Saturday at her home in North Bend. Her death was due to chronic ailments, after an acute attack of two weeks' duration. Mrs. O'Hare's maiden name was Margaret Gorman. She was born at Pottsville, Pa. in 1840 and was married to Michael O'Hare at Ashton, Pa. in 1862. They came to Nebraska in 1878 and settled in Dodge county, where they have since resided. About ten years ago they retired from the farm and purchased property in North Bend. The family consists of three sons and four daughters, all of whom were present at Mrs. O'Hare's bedside during her last days. Mr. and Mrs. O'Hare celebrated their golden wedding about four weeks ago, at which time the deceased was apparently in her usual health. Funeral services were held today at St. Charles' Catholic church in this city at 9 o'clock a. m., and burial was made in Kelly cemetery. The pallbearers were six of her grandsons.

Hans Scheel.
GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Sept. 30.—(Special.)—The funeral of Hans Scheel, late manager of Schimmer's lake and Sand Krog, a pleasure place along Wood river, was held Sunday afternoon and was largely attended by the members of the German and other societies with which he was connected and relatives and friends. Services were conducted in German by Rev. Mr. Schumann and an address was delivered in English by Attorney A. G. Abbott. Mr. Scheel was yet a young man, but was taken ill some time ago, the ailment developing into quick consumption. He had apparently recovered considerable strength and as soon as he was able to make the trip was accompanied by Mrs. Scheel, daughter of Martin Schimmer, to Colorado City, where, however, death soon followed.

Fred Hellner.
G. ORD, Neb., Sept. 30.—(Special.)—One of the most largely attended funerals ever held in Oxford was that of Fred Hellner Sunday afternoon, from the Presbyterian church. Mr. Hellner had resided in this neighborhood for more than a quarter of a century and was held in high esteem by all who knew him. Deceased was a member of the Ancient Order of United Workmen lodge, under whose auspices the funeral was held. Rev. Dr. Bailey of the Presbyterian church preached the funeral sermon.

Mrs. Angeline Coburn.
FAIRBURY, Neb., Sept. 30.—(Special.)—Mrs. Angeline Coburn passed away at her home in the northeast part of the city from a three months' illness. Mrs. Coburn was born May 23, 1850, at Waterloo, Wis. She came to Jefferson county in 1873 with her parents. She was married to O. P. Coburn of this city on December 12, 1880. To this union one son was born. The funeral services were held from the Methodist church, Rev. M. E. Gilbert officiating.

Livery Barn at Blencoe Burned.
ONAWA, Ia., Sept. 30.—(Special.)—The livery barn at Blencoe, Ia., the first station south of here, was burned Saturday night at 10 o'clock. Nine head of horses, buggies, harness and two automobiles were lost in the flames. It is also feared that one man perished. A laboring man was known to have slept in the barn, and up to a late hour today no trace of him had been found. The livery stock was the property of E. McCall and the loss is heavy. How the fire originated is a mystery.

BEESWAX
The little grandson of W. J. Bryan lives with his grandparents and goes to school in Lincoln. He rides down on the street car and is frequently accompanied by R. L. Metcalfe. The other morning the little fellow had under his arm a doll fixed up as a soldier. Metcalfe asked his name and was told it had none. 'Call him Teddy Roosevelt,' said Metcalfe coaxingly. 'I won't do it,' retorted the boy. 'Oh, come on,' said Metcalfe again. 'I'll give you a nickel if you name him Teddy Roosevelt.'

their full quota of applause. Prairie Rose, the cowgirl from Texas, never fails to get a good hand from the audience. She rides some of the most vicious bronchos in the arena, and never 'pulls leather to aid her in sticking in the seat.' The feat of bull dogging the wild steer was especially appreciated by the audience yesterday, as it happened to take place just across the ropes in front of the crowd on the left wing of the bleachers, a man throwing a steer by taking it by the horns, and at another time, leaping upon the steer's neck from a horse at full gallop.

WOMEN WORK AT SUFFRAGE
Political Headquarters Established at the Carnival.
Political headquarters on the carnival grounds have not yet become especially active. People who visit the King's Highway usually have something other than politics buzzing in their bonnets. Still the republicans, the progressives, or bull moosers, and the women who want the ballot have established headquarters on the grounds. The bull moose headquarters are in charge of a small boy and a girl. When asked who had put them there they refused to say. However, they were busy sticking bull moose badges upon strangers and handing out bull moose literature. Republican headquarters are in charge of M. J. Greevy, secretary of the republican county central committee. Over the booth painted on canvases are the names of the candidates of this county and congressional district.

Near the east entrance the women have their booth. Either to cut down expenses or to show mere man that two factions of women can get along in the same room, the Political Equality league and the Omaha Woman Suffrage league have jointly taken a booth without even so much as a partition between them. In one end of the booth the Equality league distributes its literature and in the other end the suffrage league does its work. Asked if they were distributing Roosevelt literature the women in charge both turned up their noses and replied: 'I should say not. We're not bull moosers here.'

Among the free attractions on the grounds that are attracting wide attention are the 'rube wrestling match' and the United States naval exhibit. The rube wrestlers, Harry Counsman and H. R. Johansen, are now doubling the multitude with laughter at the carnival grounds.

FLORAL AUTO PARADE TODAY
Hundred Beautifully Decorated Machines to Pass Through Streets.
About 100 automobiles, decorated in the most exquisite and harmonious combinations of flowers, will parade the streets of Omaha this afternoon, beginning at 1:30. This is the occasion of the automobile floral parade in connection with the Ak-Sar-Ben festivities. The Board of Governors of Ak-Sar-Ben will head the parade in decorated automobiles. Prizes running as high as $500 are offered for the finest and most harmonious decoration and general effect, besides a number of silver cups.

In a great many cases women will drive their own decorated car. The general effect produced by the decoration, taking into consideration the color and design of the dresses worn by the ladies in the car, will be the criterion by which the judges will decide who are the winners. The winners will not be announced until Tuesday evening after the judges have made their reports to King Ak-Sar-Ben. There are six judges, no one of whom knows who any of the other five are. The judges will be stationed at various vantage points along the streets to be paraded.
The parade will start at Twenty-fourth and Farnam streets and pass east to Eleventh street, north to Douglas, west to Fifteenth, south to Howard, west to Sixteenth, south to Leavenworth, counter march on Sixteenth to Chicago street, west to Seventeenth, south to Capitol avenue, where it will disband.

Motherhood
The highest point of woman's happiness is reached only through motherhood, in the clasping of her child within her arms. Yet the mother-to-be is often fearful of nature's ordeal and shrinks from the suffering incident to its consummation. But for nature's ills and discomforts nature provides remedies, and in Mother's Friend is to be found a medicine of great value to every expectant mother. It is an emulsion for external application, composed of ingredients which act with beneficial and soothing effect on those portions of the system involved. It is intended to prepare the system for the crisis, and thus relieve, in great part, the suffering through which the mother usually passes. The regular use of Mother's Friend will repay any mother in the help and comfort it affords before, and the helpful restoration to health and strength it brings about after baby comes. Mother's Friend is for sale at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

FIFTY-ONE ALLEGED DYNAMITERS TO BE ARRAIGNED TUESDAY

upon which the government founded its case before the federal grand jury which returned the indictments. And it is expected to figure prominently in the present trial. In a Michigan confession, that Hockin came to him in Detroit in 1907 and induced him to blow up a 'job' there, afterward paying him a regular fee of $15 for each job. McManigal had worked in a stone quarry and he said, it was because of his familiarity with explosives that he was selected. That Hockin accompanied him on trips and pointed out works that were to be blown up, afterwards introducing him to James E. McNamara, who became McManigal's 'teammate' in the dynamiting business. That on instructions from Hockin he met Michael J. Young, a member of the executive board, in Boston and Frank C. Webb in New York about 'jobs' that were to be blown up near those cities. That Hockin wired him at Chicago to return to Indianapolis in February, 1910, where he, Hockin and J. J. McNamara talked over a 'new invention,' which consisted of using an ordinary alarm clock as a time for fuses. 'It was a scheme by which we could set a bomb and then be miles away when the explosion occurred and so prove an alibi,' said McManigal. McManigal also confessed that explosives were hidden in various parts of the country and carried in suit cases on passenger trains, that he met various business agents about 'jobs' and that he received a fee of from $125 to $250 for each 'job.'

List of Defendants.
Following is the government's list of the defendants in the dynamite cases:
Frank M. Ryan, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers; residence, Chicago; headquarters, Indianapolis.
Harbert E. Hockin, acting secretary-treasurer of the union.
John T. Butler, Buffalo, N. Y., first vice president.
Eugene A. Clancy, former member executive board and former business agent at San Francisco.
John H. Barry, St. Louis, Mo., former member executive board.
Henry W. Leggett, Denver, Colo., former member executive board.
Daniel J. Brophy, Brooklyn, former member executive board.
Patrick F. Farrell, Brooklyn, former member executive board.
John J. McCray, Wheeling, W. Va.,

Chronology of Case.

Although fifty-four men were indicted, only fifty-one of them were to appear for trial, because the McNamaras already are in prison and McGray never has been located since the indictments were returned last February.

Chronology of Alleged Conspiracy.
Summer 1908, first explosion (railroad bridge) Miller's Falls, Mass., thirteen sticks of dynamite discovered.
1908-1910, almost one hundred explosions in Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, Maryland, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Missouri, Nebraska and western states.
October 1, 1910, Los Angeles Times building blown up, twenty-one persons killed.
December 25, 1910, Llewellyn Iron works, Los Angeles, blown up.
April 12, 1911, James B. McNamara and Orrie E. McManigal arrested at Detroit.
April 22, 1911, John J. McNamara, secretary-treasurer of International Bridge and Structural Ironworkers, arrested at his office in Indianapolis.
December 11, 1911, McNamaras plead guilty at Los Angeles, John J. to murder in the first degree, blowing up the Los Angeles Times building, and James B. to having blown up the Llewellyn Iron works.
February 5, 1912, federal grand jury at Indianapolis returns thirty-two indictments charging fifty-four men with having participated in a conspiracy illegally to transport dynamite.

February 14, almost all of the defendants arrested within a few hours after a signal telegraphed to many parts of the country.
March 13, defendants arraigned and plead guilty.
October 1, exactly two years after the Los Angeles disaster the trial before a federal court begins.
